ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

MISS MULLER OF HAYVILLE
Maud Muller, on a summer's day,
Plunged down her rake amid the hay.
"I'm sick," she said of nothing per—
"I'm going to be a muckraker."
And so she raked the countryside,
Until her friends for mercy cried.
She merely answered them: "Oh, fudge—
Next month I'm going to rake the Judge."
She did—with pictures and with charts,
And details of his baleful arts.
She blotted at his awful past—
She had him catalogued, paged, classed
Not all this advertising brought
Unto the Judge the fame he'd sought.
He rose high in the world's affairs,
While Maud grew pale 'neath writer's care.
He wrote: "Had you, Maud, stuck to hay
The spotlight ne'er had tarred my way.
And Maud is raking grass again,
The maddest of all maids of the pen."

HAPPENINGS IN THE CITIES

Thought He Had Captured a Groundhog

TRENTON, N. J.—James Williams, a farm hand of White Horse, who is a firm believer in the ground hog weather theory, was put under the care of a physician as the consequence of his endeavor to capture the animal and keep him out of his hole, so that the six more weeks of winter would be eliminated. Williams' experience was such that he says he will never bother the ground hog again.

For several weeks Williams had boasted to friends that he had found the ground hog's hole and announced that when the proper time arrived he intended to insure the community good weather by forcing the animal to remain in the open, even if he did see his shadow.

Several volunteers to aid him in the capture, but Williams desired all the honor, and said he could perform the feat single handed. Before dawn he went to the supposed hole of the ground hog, about one and a half miles from White Horse, and waited.

It seemed a long time to dawn and the farm hand felt drowsy. He aroused himself and walked about the hole several times to keep awake, but was finally overcome, and before he knew it was sound asleep in the snow. Williams arose with a start. The sun was brightly shining, and the snow swiftly melting about him. He gave one hurried glance into the hole and then quickly arose. Not ten feet from him he saw an animal walking leisurely in the direction of White Horse. He believed his ground hog was escaping, and immediately started in pursuit. He took the animal unaware, and the capture was easy.

Holding his prey under one arm he started for the village. When he was nearly coming down the road with his captive there was a mighty cheer from a crowd which had gathered. It was the proudest moment of Williams' life. As he walked into the crowd he held the ground hog up so all could see it and was amazed to see the crowd suddenly disperse and flee in panic.

"Drop that skunk," the town constable shouted, as he dived into a cellar. The villagers scattered in all directions.

Put "Laziest Boy in Chicago" on Diet

CHICAGO.—Three full hours before he had finished his daily thirteen hour snooze—or rather, dally-nightly snooze—Hermann Davis, 17 years old, "the laziest boy in Chicago," was rudely awakened from his snoring slumber shortly after 2 o'clock the other morning by a policeman at the home of the boy's grandmother. Hermann had not been disturbed before he had finished his sleep as far back as he could remember. He looked at the bluecoat, decided he could not be annoyed, and, rolling over, started once more to snore.

Another rough shake by the policeman brought the boy out of bed onto the floor, where he yawningly protested against such treatment and went back to sleep. Exasperated, the officer finally managed to keep the boy awake long enough to get him dressed and then took him to the Chicago avenue station, where his mother, Mrs. Ida McGraw, was pacing the office in a rage.

"There he is now!" she shouted angrily. "Look at him. He's the laziest boy in the world. I want him locked up and made to work."

Hermann looked weary of it all and answered the accusations of his parent with stretches, yawns and sleepy blinks.

"Look at this. This is what he does all day and night," and the woman thrust a piece of paper into the hands of the desk sergeant. It read:

"Rises at noon. Eats a hearty combination breakfast-lunch. Spends the afternoon at nickel theaters. Returns home to supper at six. Takes a nap until 7:30. Visits movie nickel stores. Retires to bed promptly at 10:30."

"We'll have to turn him over to Juvenile court officers," said the sergeant. "They'll put him on the 'no work, no eat' diet. He should be examined for the hook worm or the 'sleeping sickness.' I'll take charge of him."

He looked around for Hermann. The boy was fast asleep in a chair in the corner. The mother fled.

Mississippi Dog a Good Lion Hunter

NEW YORK.—To hear Paul J. Ratney tell about it, running down a full-grown lion with a pack of plain Mississippi dogs isn't half as dangerous as chasing a scared little red fox with a pack of full-blooded foxhounds—particularly if said fox takes it into his head to run over the property of an irate Long Island farmer, armed with a shotgun full of rock salt.

"When you run a lion down with dogs you carry a gun along, and all you've got to do is to use it after the dogs drive the lion into range," he says. "But when you are chasing Reynard the only one who has a gun is the irate farmer. So, me for the lions!"

The young American sportsman who stands sponsor for these scimitars has just returned from a year's hunting expedition in Africa. When he left here early in 1911 with his friend and companion on his famous Arctic trip, Dr. M. E. Johnson of Lexington, Ky., taking only a few guns and a pack of ordinary Mississippi hounds to go lion hunting his friends laughed at him.

Now that Mr. Ratney has the pelts of seventy-four full grown lions to wave in their faces they are eating so much humble pie that an epidemic of mental indigestion is threatened.

"The only difficulty was to train the dogs to take up the lion's scent," he said to a little group of apologetic ones who called at his offices at 527 Fifth avenue to apologize for their ill-thumbed mirth of a year ago.

"I really don't blame you for having laughed at me last year. But I knew that the pups would back me up. I had been bear hunting with them in this country, and I felt pretty confident that dogs that would go to the mat with a savage bear wouldn't tuck their tails and run from a lion."

"They didn't take kindly to the scent at first. I didn't blame them much, for a lion doesn't feed on clover or vanilla beans. But they got used to it after a while—and at the end of six weeks all you had to do was to show them the spoor of a lion and they would locate for you in half an hour."

"Bumming" at 20 Below Not a Picnic

ST. LOUIS.—John Vail, a postoffice robber who escaped jail at Macon one night early in January in an effort to escape a 3-year term in the penitentiary, was arrested at St. Charles, Mo., where he was found by a patrolman. Vail, who is some 59 years old and fairly well educated, chose a bitter cold night to leave the jail and came near freezing to death while riding on the fender of a fast Kansas City-Chicago train. He told about his trip the other day.

"The night I escaped the temperature was about 20 degrees below zero," he said. "I went to the depot and when the passenger train from Kansas City to Chicago came in I climbed up on the tender. I didn't know how far it would run till it stopped, but supposed maybe ten or twelve miles."

"When we began to shoot down the grade east of town I realized I was up against it. The wind tore at me from four directions, it seemed, and my overcoat was thin and my gloves had holes in them. I didn't know whether I was going to be shaken off the tank or whether I would be blown off the roof or frozen into a chunk of ice."

"Every time I hit a curve or forked over a switch I would cling like death to my iron bed, and I knew if my fingers got stiff on me I was gone. 'Twasn't about town sveny by and I knew I could never stand it to the Mississippi river. I had to keep my head down so the cold wind wouldn't cut my face off. I'd read about men tramping through Arctic snows, and how they suffered, but where I was roasting that night would have made Cook or Perry turn back. My eyebrows and mustache were frosted so you might have knocked 'em off with a stick."

"At last I saw far down the track a red light and when the engine whistled the light wasn't changed. That meant stop! To me it was like seeing a tall after drifting all night on a raft in the ocean. I just could get my bones lumber enough to climb down."

I want to tell all women about this cure—you, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or your sister. I want to tell you how to cure yourselves at home without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any doctor. I know that my home treatment is a safe and sure cure for Leucorrhoea or Whites, Discharges, Ulceration, Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Prostate, Scanty or Painful Periods, Uterine or Ovarian Tumors or Growths; also pains in the head, back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness, kidney and bladder troubles where caused by weaknesses peculiar to our sex. I want to send you a complete ten day's treatment entirely free to prove to you that you can cure yourself at home, easily, quickly and surely. Remember, that it will cost you nothing to give me a complete trial; and if you should wish to continue, it will cost you only about 12 cents a week, or less than two cents a day. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer if you wish, and I will send you the treatment for your case, entirely free, in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you free of cost, my book—"WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER" with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer, and how they can easily cure themselves at home. Every woman should have it, and learn to think for herself. Then when the doctor says—"You must have an operation," you can decide for yourself. Thousands of women have cured themselves with my home remedy. It cures all, old or young. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain a simple home treatment which speedily and effectively cures Leucorrhoea, Green Discharges and Painful or Irregular Menstruation in Young Ladies. Plumpness and health always result from its use. Wherever you live, I can refer you to ladies of your own locality who know and will gladly tell you how this Home Treatment really cures all women's diseases, and makes women well, strong, plump and robust. Just send me your address, and the free ten day's treatment is yours; also the book. Write today, as you may not see this offer again. Address: MRS. M. SUMMERS, Box 11, South Bend, Ind., U. S. A.

Dr. J. N. McCormack of Kentucky Says 60,000 Deaths Could be Prevented by it

CHICAGO, February 28th.—There are two million cases of serious illness and sixty thousand deaths that could be easily prevented, Dr. J. N. McCormack of the Kentucky Board of Health told the conference of the American Medical Association here today.

Dr. McCormack was urging earnest support by physicians of Senator Owen's bill, which would establish a National Department of Health.

"Consumption and smallpox can be banished if the conditions which cause these diseases can be uncovered and removed," he declared, and that is what a National Board of Health will do.

Father

The life of the fathers may be divided logically into ten steps. They are:

- Papa.
- Pap or Pop.
- Pa.
- P-onh.
- The Old Man.
- Governor.
- Dad.
- Poor Old Father.
- Sainted Parents.

A great many fathers may be pardoned readily if somewhere along the picaresque excursion of life they have wandered ardently that the last step might have come somewhere well along toward the first step.

WOMEN, AVOID OPERATIONS

Many Unsuccessful — And Worse Suffering Often Follows. Mrs. Rock's Case A Warning.

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will show how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when often it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it." — Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has restored the health of thousands of suffering women. Why don't you try it?

Flemingsburg Times-Democrat.
Only a few days ago dogs got into the flock of Grannis Bros. and killed and crippled $102 worth of sheep. On Sunday night dogs got the flock of Ross Stone, in Johnson vicinity, and did $98 worth of damages. At this rate the dog tax for this county will not pay the sheep losses. There are too many dogs in the country upon whose worthless hides nobody pays any taxes. These ought to be killed, as they are usually the ones that start the trouble.

BIG ORDER

C. and O. Announces the Purchase of 50 Mikado Engines

It has been officially announced that the C. and O. has placed an order for fifty new freight engines to be used by the C. and O. proper. Twenty five of these are to be of the Mikado type and will weigh each 315,000 pounds. One of these engines was recently built by the American Locomotive Works and after being given a thorough trial the road decided to place an order for twenty-five new engines of the same type.

The smaller type of engine are to be turned over to the Chicago division of the C. & O. and to the Hocking Valley, which road is now a part of the C. & O. system. It is probable that some of the engines will be transferred to the Kanawha and New River coal fields.
